Traffic wardens suffer torrent of violence and racist abuse with 17 attacks in past three months

ADAM HOLT

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY'S parking wardens have been threatened with knives, physically assaulted and racially insulted during a spate of violent attacks in recent weeks.

Haringey Council has pledged to take legal action against any aggressive behaviour toward staff after there were 17 such attacks in the past three months. A photograph was released this week showing the injuries sustained by a parking attendant when he was viciously kicked after issuing a ticket in Wood Green. He had to receive hospital treatment and take a week off work after the attack at the end of July.

Hurt: This warden needed hospital treatment

Councillor Brian Haley, cabinet member for environment and conservation at Haringey Council, vowed to prosecute anyone assaulting council employees going about their everyday work.

He said: "Only this weekend we had attendants escape serious injury when a brick was thrown through the back window of their vehicle while they were sitting in it.

"We will protect our staff and will prosecute anyone who assaults them as they go about their lawful business. Some of the attacks against our staff have involved serious physical violence, knives and racial abuse. Clearly this is not acceptable.

"Nobody likes to get a parking ticket but the way to avoid that is to park legally.

"If anyone wants to dispute their ticket, then the appeals process is well documented on the ticket. We cannot have innocent staff attacked in this manner."

> "A brick was thrown through the back window of their vehicle while they sat in it."

The pledge comes after the recent prosecution of a man who seriously assaulted a parking attendant, kicking him after he was handed a ticket.

Ardian Kurti received a 12-month community order and was ordered to pay £200 compensation to the parking warden he assaulted after appearing at Highgate Magistrates' Court on August 10.

Other incidents include an attendant being threatened with a knife, another where a car was driven towards a group of wardens and several involving other physical attacks and racial abuse.

Jail for rapist after his victim's courage leads to conviction

Vicious: Ali-Balogun was jailed for eight years

By Lucy Purdy

A MAN who attacked a prostitute in Tottenham and then raped her while she was unconscious, has been sent to jail for a minimum of eight years.

On December 3 last year, unemployed Owen Ali-Balogun, of Vartry Road, propositioned the 43-year-old woman who was working in the Seven Sisters area. The pair went into a park area in Manchester Road. Ali-Balogun started to touch the woman and when she tried to stop him, struck her on the head, knocking her out. The 28-year-old then raped her while she was unconscious.

Judge David Rennie, sentencing Ali-Balogun at Lewes Crown Court last Thursday, said Ali-Balogun "chose to hurt and humiliate her for pleasure" and that he had used "over and above a serious level of force".

The woman woke to find her face bleeding and had bruises over her back, neck and head. She sought help from a passer-by and made her way to a friend's house before another friend urged her to report the attack to the police.

Detective Constable Amanda Christodoulou, of Haringey's Sapphire Unit, said: "This conviction is testament to the strength and bravery of the woman who came forward and gave evidence. This was a callous, vicious attack and she still bears the scars of what this man did to her.

"I feel honoured to have worked with such a brave woman and hope she can move forward with her life, knowing her attacker is off the streets."

CCTV footage of Ali-Balogun was recovered from an off-licence he visited before the attack and police went on to find clothes at his home which matched those described by the victim.

Ali-Balogun was arrested on January 14 and will now be placed on the Sex Offenders Register for life.

Scam leaves laptop buyers feeling green

CONMEN have been selling people bags of onions and potatoes in place of laptop computers in a scam uncovered last week around White Hart Lane market.

Illegal DVDs and CDs, counterfeit belts and wallets and a card game designed to con people out of their money, have also been discovered in recent weeks by police and enforcement officers from Haringey Council. They launched two operations after complaints from residents that illegal traders were operating around the market.

Sergeant George Hawthorne, of the White Hart Lane Safer Neighbourhood team, said: "We urge people to exercise extreme caution if they are approached by anyone in the street trying to sell anything. Even if you do get the item you're paying for, there is a real danger that you could be buying stolen property, which means you could be arrested on suspicion of handling stolen goods."

Dodgy dealers had been showing customers laptops, placing them in carrier bags once the sale was agreed but then switching it for another bag containing just vegetables. Officers also found dupers running the Find The Lady gambling scam, a trick where people are enticed into betting money which they inevitably lose.

The counterfeit goods were seized and officers issued two on-the-spot fines of £150.

Young mother joins list of A-level success stories

By Lucy Purdy

A TEENAGER who gave birth to her son just weeks before sitting her A-level exams celebrated her results this week, saying she had to fit her revision in between changing nappies.

Haringey Sixth Form Centre student Jessica Horne is one of thousands of teenagers in the borough who got their A-level results last week. The 18-year-old from Hornsey notched up an A in psychology, B in PE and a D in biology, despite giving birth to son Josiah in June.

"I'm really happy about my grades although I would have liked to get a bit higher in biology," she said.

"I revised when Josiah was sleeping and it was challenging with the sleepless nights, but I've had lots of help from family and friends from early on. They're all happy and proud of me now."

Jessica hopes to train as a physiotherapist in 2010 after retaking her biology exam in January.

It is the first year of A-level results at Haringey Sixth Form Centre since it opened in 2007. Principal June Jarrett said: "As a new institution, we feel the achievements of students have been exceptional and we couldn't be more pleased with these results. They have worked so hard and deserve it."

Also receiving their results at the centre in White Hart Lane on Thursday morning were 19-year-old Zain Khalish from Enfield and 18-year-old Naniko Pivazi from Tottenham.

Zain's A-grades in law and politics and B in business means he can study law at London's City University in the autumn. He said: "I was tense this morning and I didn't sleep. But this is what I predicted I would get. I needed two As and a B so it felt good when I opened the envelope."

For Naniko, a lifelong dream of studying fashion will be realised when she begins a foundation diploma at the London College of Fashion in September. She got four B-grades, in Russian, psychology, textiles and photography – just four marks off an A in photography and a tantalisingly single mark away from an A-grade in Russian. Naniko said: "My dream job would be to work for Vogue. I just love fashion. Anything to do with clothes has me gripped.

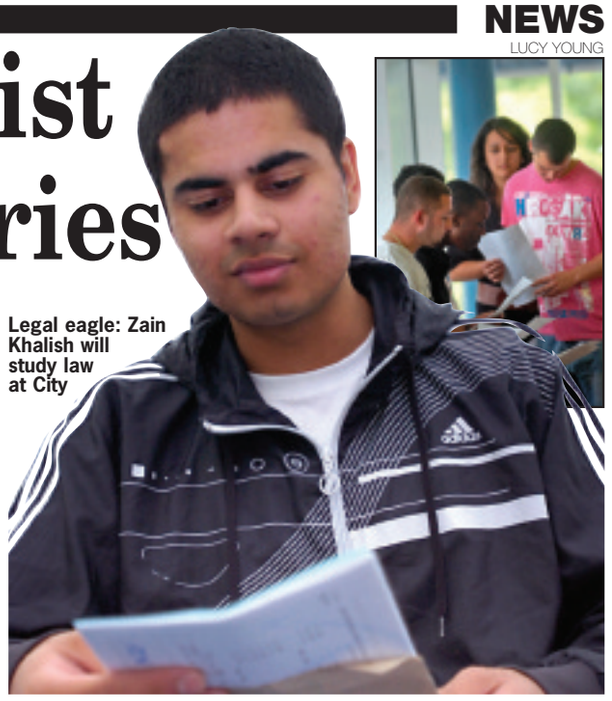

"I was nervous this morning but then I went on the UCAS website to check I had got in and now I'm relieved."

Councillor Lorna Reith, cabinet member for children and young people at Haringey Council, said she was delighted with students' achievements.

"They've been working hard for two years and, with the support of their teachers, have earned some excellent results. Congratulations to them all," she added.

The overall pass rate in the borough was 97.8 per cent this year, up from 96.8 per cent in 2008, with more students than ever achieving the top, A to C grades – 71.4 per cent.

One student at Greig City Academy, based in High Street, Hornsey, will begin a music degree after he came to the UK from Albania. Ernest Qafaliaj was unable to speak any English but still achieved two A-grades and one C. Alexandra Park School, in Bidwell Gardens, scored a 100 per cent pass rate for the second year in a row with four star students notching up four A grades.

Child trafficking rings uncovered

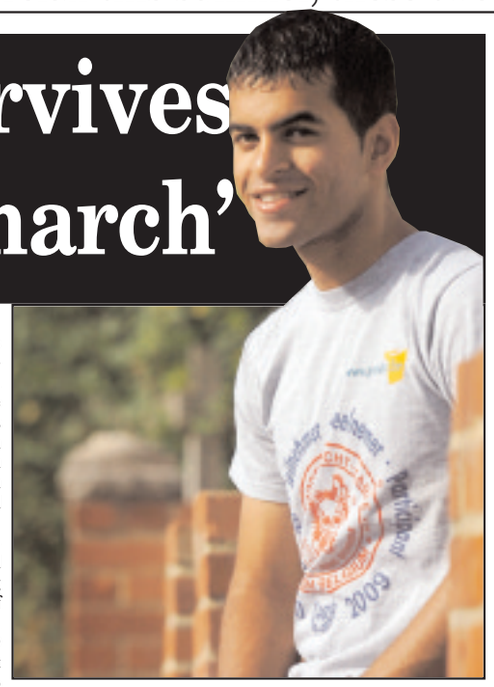

HOMES have been raided as part of a London child trafficking investigation.

Operation Longbridge looked into Romanian criminal gangs illegally bringing children into the UK to make money from benefits. From August 10, lawyers, police and prosecutors from Romania were flown in to investigate children in Haringey, supported by the borough's Safer Neighbourhoods teams. Children are also thought to have been used to commit crime such as begging, theft and pick-pocketing.

More than 20 children were interviewed and 200 people questioned on suspicion of exploiting children.

Raja survives 'death march'

A TEENAGER from Bounds Green has completed one of the world's toughest challenges, a 100km "death march" in Belgium.

Some 10,000 people from all over the world took part in the challenge which is known as the Dodentocht – or death march – and renowned for its merciless, rough and forested course. Competitors march through the night and have to reach the end within 24 hours.

Raja Hannaan Tariq, of Blake Road, suffered blisters and damage to his knee and foot while taking part in the gruelling annual event in the northern town of Bornem on August 14. The 19-year-old crossed the finishing line in a time of 19 hours and 15 minutes after sprinting the last 2km and drawing cheers from those who had gathered to watch.

Raja said: "I was really nervous the day before and just wanted to get it over with. When we got halfway I really wanted to quit and was in so much pain. I just thought, I can't do this any more. But I thought of my friends and family and remembered I was doing it for the challenge.

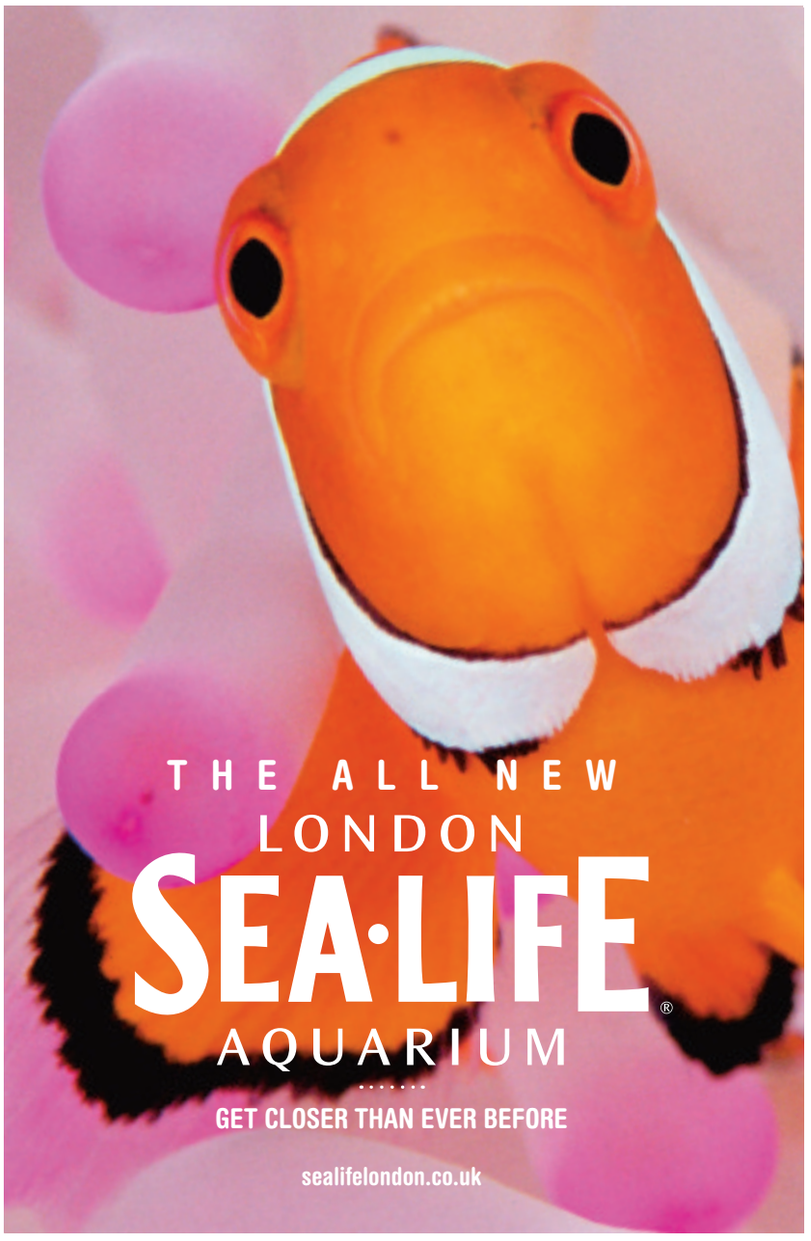

"I was walking by myself so I think I was able to go a bit faster and I got text messages from my family which helped me through."

Raja, who will begin training toward a commercial pilot's licence later this year, played music by Michael Jackson through his headphones to urge him along and munched on crisps and energy drinks to keep up his stamina. He prepared by walking around London, including regular trudges from Uxbridge to Hyde Park, and took the event's slogan, "walking for a better world", to heart.

"I enjoy volunteering, as a play worker and in the air cadets, so as soon as I heard about it, this was something I really wanted to do," he explained.

"My mates all bet that I couldn't complete it, so that spurred me on too."

Kindness runs in the family

By Lucy Purdy

A WOMAN from Hornsey whose mother died of breast cancer when she was just a girl will take part in a 5km run in Hyde Park in her memory.

Suzette La Pierre, of Fairfax Road, was 12 when her mother Yvonne died in 1991 and remembers her as a "happy, hard-working person, always laughing". She decided upon the race to make her proud and help fellow cancer sufferers through charity Breast Cancer Campaign.

Suzette, 31, will don a bright pink tutu, halo and wings as part of the Guardian Angels team for the race on September 6, and will be cheered on by her two-year-old daughter Yazmin.

She said: "I thought it was important to achieve something positive from the sadness of when my mum died. For a long time, it seemed like she'd just gone on holiday. She died on a weekend and I went back to school on the Monday. At that age, you feel that your mum is supposed to live forever.

"She was a geriatric nurse at St Ann's Hospital and brought me up by herself, so she was very hard-working. She was a fighter but it got to the point she was too sick to fight any more."

Suzette is no stranger to helping others as she works as an executive assistant for children's charity NSPCC and has volunteered for Breast Cancer Campaign before. After limbering up for the race next week, she hopes to collect at least £200 for the charity which funds research into the disease.

"I'm not a gym bunny at all," laughed Suzette. "But women of all different backgrounds and abilities take part and there's a great atmosphere on the day. I can't wait!"

Three charged after gang of 20 attacks police

By Lucy Purdy

PLAIN-CLOTHED police officers were attacked by a 20-strong mob armed with bike chains, bats and bottles when they confronted a suspected knifeman in Tottenham.

Three officers were patrolling Somerford Grove on August 19 when they saw a man they suspected of throwing away a knife. When they tried to arrest him, the officers were set upon by the group of armed men. One suffered a cut to his face, one was bitten and three suffered cuts and bruising to their arms.

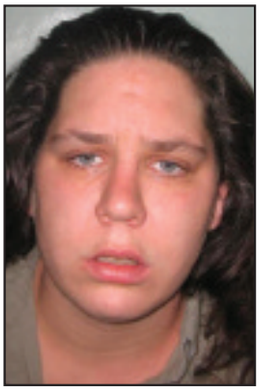

After the officers called for back-up, the gang fled on foot and in a car. Four men have so far been arrested in connection with the attack.

Unemployed Orlando McGreggor, 18, of St Margaret's Road, and 22-year-old scaffolder Daniel Preston, of Waverley Road, have been charged with violent disorder and will appear at Wood Green Crown Court, in Lordship Lane, on Friday. Ryan Preston, also unemployed, from Lower Edmonton, appeared at Highgate Magistrates' Court last Friday charged with grievous bodily harm and was also remanded to appear in court on Friday.

A fourth man, 19, was arrested on Monday on suspicion of violent disorder and assaulting a police officer.

The killers of Baby P each launch appeal against their jail sentences

Jailed: Tracey Connelly

Rapist: Steven Barker

Imprisoned: Jason Owen

THE evil trio behind the death of baby Peter Connelly have appealed against their sentences.

This week, the Court of Appeal confirmed that Baby Peter's mother, Tracey Connelly, 28, her partner Steven Barker, 33, and Barker's brother, 37-year-old Jason Owen have all lodged appeals against their sentences.

Connelly, Barker and Owen were handed down minimum prison stretches of five, 12 and three years respectively for causing or allowing the death of the 17-month-old. He died at home in Penshurst Road, Tottenham, in August 2007 after suffering more than 50 injuries, including fractured ribs and a broken back.

Barker, Baby Peter's stepfather, is also appealing against his life sentence for the rape of a two-year-old girl.

A spokeswoman for the Court of Appeal said: "Once a judge considers the applications, if leave to appeal is granted, a date will be set."

Ramadan advice given to pharmacists

PHARMACISTS in Highgate are receiving special training to help Muslim patients during Ramadan, amid fears seriously ill people may miss hospital appointments during the holy month.

The Co-operative Pharmacy in Junction Road is training its staff to help patients who want to change the amount of medication they take while fasting. Ramadan started at the weekend and sees Muslims across the world refrain from eating and drinking during daylight hours.

But health chiefs and religious leaders have urged Muslims to remember their health at the same time.

Jusna Begum, from the Muslim Council of Great Britain, said: "It is essential Muslim patients follow strict medication guidance in the knowledge they are not breaking their religious beliefs.

"I ask all Muslims to make their health a priority and attend appointments."

Fiesta full of food and fun as party takes to the street

Memories: TV presenter Kwame Kwei-Armah, centre, caught up with old friends

By Lucy Purdy

HUNDREDS stepped out of their front doors to enjoy a street party in Tottenham this weekend, including a famous former resident.

Playwright, actor and TV presenter Kwame Kwei-Armah was on hand to open the annual Elmhurst Road street party in blazing sunshine on Saturday afternoon. Kwame, who is currently presenting Channel 4's On Tour With The Queen, used to live in the street before moving to Muswell Hill and still maintains close links with the community.

All ages welcome: Children enjoy the freedom of footie fun on the street

Among the fun on the day was a mini-Olympics competition, featuring a three-legged race and hula hooping contest, a football shoot-out competition organised by Tottenham Hotspur Football Club, a Ragga'cise workshop and colourful demonstration of the Brazilian, martial arts-inspired Capoeria dance.

Elmhurst Road resident and organiser Kevin Brown said there had been a "fantastic atmosphere".

> "This started as a way of getting to know our neighbours and has sort of escalated."

"There were hundreds of people, lots more than last year, because I think everybody's friends and family had heard about the party and wanted to come along," he said.

"This started as a way of getting to know our neighbours and it has sort of escalated. There were people from all walks of life, cultures and nationalities."

After working up an appetite by taking part in the events, residents sampled a mix of English, Polish, Caribbean, Romanian and Eritrean food, cooked by their neighbours, as well as a spit-roasted lamb from the street's Albanian contingent.

Former EastEnders actress Judith Jacobs, who played health visitor Carmel Roberts in the soap in the 1980s, also came along to meet residents alongside Snake Boy Sonny and his python, billed as "a belly-dancer extraordinaire". Plans are already under way for next year's street party.

Back to nature: Reporter Lucy Purdy is given a tour of Tottenham Marshes by Friends secretary David Cottridge

Marshes make a home for wildlife and the people

By Lucy Purdy

FROM birdwatching to beekeeping, photography to festivals, wildlife surveys, nature walks and the creation of wildflower meadows, it's all happening down at Tottenham Marshes.

A hazy August afternoon was the perfect time to visit the beautiful, 100-acre open space just a stone's throw from Tottenham Hale station. It is made up of three main areas – Clendish Marsh, Wild Marsh West and Wild Marsh East – and is much cherished by dog-walkers, families, ramblers, joggers and cyclists alike.

But Tottenham Marshes is also fast becoming a focus for the study of wildlife and nature conservation in London – and the gentle but incessant buzzing, rustling and chirping coming from all directions as we wandered around suggests this is thriving.

Established in 2005 to promote the marshes as a space for all to enjoy, Friends Of Tottenham Marshes has grown to have about 110 members and plays an active role in promoting and protecting the unique spot from its base in the Waterside Centre at Stonebridge Lock.

"The biodiversity of the area has increased quite a lot since we've been here," said David Cottridge, wildlife photographer and secretary of FOTM.

"A lot of green spaces and parks in London are very manicured. They are cut and mowed and are basically lawns, like green deserts.

"They look nice but there is actually very little there."

"Tottenham Marshes is a very important spot for dragonflies in Britain because they like the insects which thrive in wetland areas. We see a lot of butterflies, voles, brown rats, bats, foxes and we've seen signs of otters too. Every month we do a bird-watching survey where we split into small groups and count every bird on the marsh – we've seen stonechats, wrynecks, kestrels and woodpeckers.

"We hold work parties on the first Sunday of every month where people come along and help out. New volunteers are always welcome," he added.

Fittingly, the group's logo is that of a black redstart, a small bird which has adapted to live in industrial and urban areas, and captures the Friends' role as custodians of the marshes and all its wildlife.

IN SEPTEMBER 2006, it set about creating a wildflower meadow by cutting more dominant vegetation in the autumn and allowing plants whose seeds were lying dormant in the soil to flourish. In place of dense swathes of cow parsley, comfrey and nettles has sprung a beautiful mix of wildflowers including rare blue orchids, cranesbills, geraniums and butterflies' favourite, field scabious – a pretty lilac flower also known as gypsy rose, blue button and lady's pincushion.

> "It is quite a hub, with lots of barges passing by in the summer."

More recently, a garden has been established following the principles of permaculture – a sustainable and stable approach to growing food. And amid news of the UK's bees disappearing at an alarming rate, hives will soon be installed nearby to complement the new wildflowers, and plans are also afoot for the creation of a large, wetland area featuring lagoons, islands and reed beds to attract new species. But it is not just plants and animals who relish the marshes.

"We hold festivals, classes and workshops," said David, "and Edmonton Running Club hold its annual race day here. We want to set up new classes, art exhibitions and more social events. It is actually quite a hub with lots of barges passing by in the summer, canoeists and people picking blackberries or even horseradish.

"But lots of people who live nearby haven't actually been down to the marshes. I think one of the problems was when they put Watermead Way in – it became a physical and mental barrier for people.

"We're working hard to create a valuable and lasting green space for the whole community and need to increase our numbers in order to realise our plans for the future."

Meaty tale of Todd enjoys a fresh cut

Pie in the sky: Sweeney Todd is not necessarily bad in this adaptation

SO WHY exactly do we love this grisly story of a mass murderer who slashes his victims' jugulars and puts them into pies?!

"I think we need a bogey man," said director Alexandra Parsonage. "It's a way of society dealing with its fears. Whenever there's a risk of working class violence, society creates these characters such as Sweeney Todd in the 1790s, when the air was full of revolutionary fervour. The same thing happened with Jack the Ripper in the 1880s and, interestingly, both are set in that bastion of the working class, the East End."

Alexandra is the director of the latest resurrection for the demon barber of Fleet Street in a show crisply titled Sweeney Todd. His company, aptly named Finger In The Pie, brings its eccentric adaptation to Jackson's Lane arts centre following glowing reviews at the Edinburgh Festival.

"It's as if we've cast Buster Keaton in a 1920s horror," he said, laughing. "There's lots of physical theatre, puppetry and live music and the young Sweeney is played by a puppet while the older one is a silent German clown! But our Todd is the ultimate innocent in a bad world – we portray the many deaths as unfortunate accidents!"

● The show is at Jackson's Lane, Archway Road, Highgate, next Saturday at 8pm and Sunday at 3pm. Tickets cost £12.50 (£10.50 concessions). For details and reservations, call 020 8341 4421.

Explosive film action

The Hurt Locker (15)

Dir: Kathryn Bigelow
Starring: Jeremy Renner, Anthony Mackie, Brian Geraghty, Guy Pearce

Danger zone: A bomb squad unit's work makes gripping viewing

THE war in Iraq has provided a fruitful source of inspiration for filmmakers.

Many have merely used it as an excuse for a lot of special effects, over-the-top action and big names and – on the face of it – The Hurt Locker could be just that; especially at the sight of Guy Pearce (Sergeant Matt Thompson) in the opening scene. But his appearance is no more than a cameo, and a good one at that, in a film that very much seeks to showcase lesser-known talent: the three protagonists Staff Sergeant William James (Jeremy Renner), Sergeant Sanborn (Anthony Mackie) and Specialist Owen Eldridge (Brian Geraghty).

What distinguishes The Hurt Locker from most films based on the Iraq war is its in-depth insight on a very specific subject matter – the near suicidal work of the army's bomb squad, or Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) crew.

Responsible for disarming roadside bombs on the streets of Baghdad, while not knowing whether the watchful eyes of nearby Iraqis are innocent bystanders or insurgents ready to detonate at any moment, certainly calls for a war film at its most gripping and suspenseful.

At least this was what scriptwriter Mark Boal perceived when he spent several weeks as a journalist following a US Army bomb squad in Baghdad in 2004. His experiences lend the film a realism that would otherwise have been absent.

The film's focus is largely based around the reckless bravery of Staff Sergeant James. Plot-wise it is not much more than a series of bomb "missions" played one after another, although away from the action there are scenes showing surprisingly detailed character studies.

James and Sergeant Sanborn are both alpha-males of a different stock; the former has little regard to protocol. On the other hand Specialist Owen Eldridge is the impressionable youth split on deciding which of his two mentors has the better way of doing things. But he soon comes to realise that in his line of work it doesn't matter who you are – bombs don't discriminate.

Now Showing...

Inglourious Basterds (18)
★★★☆☆
Funny, violent, brash, barmy, ridiculous Tarantinoesque revision of World War Two as American soldiers – The Basterds of the title – go on a Nazi-scalping rampage behind enemy lines led by Brad Pitt. Great ending, pretty good opening, just a shame about the big chunk of chat in-between.

Sin Nombre (15)
★★★★☆
Part adventure story, part gangland grit – think Slumdog without the Millionaire fantasy – it's an exhilarating ride from a first-time feature director traversing the netherworlds of immigration and street gangs through Central America and Mexico.

Mesrine: Killer Instinct (15)
★★★☆☆
Part one of the violent life and times of Jacques Mesrine: France's most colourful, controversial criminal. Vincent Cassel is a marvellous Mesrine, but the biopic is more brawn than brain.

The Taking of Pelham 123 (15)
Cameras whiz, the soundtrack throbs, John Travolta rages, but it's an inferior remake of the 1974 original, though Denzel Washington tries to hold it together. Passable popcorn fare that won't tax the grey matter.

Some like it hot, so a new Spice menu!

Restaurant News

Spice Villa, 229-231 Fore Street, Edmonton 020 8807 4069/ 8803 2240

EVERY couple of years Spice Villa changes its menu.

Nothing particularly astounding in that, but the fact that the popular Indian always comes up trumps with another scintillating selection, makes this one of the most eagerly awaited events in the curry calendar.

Twenty-two new dishes pepper the Villa's extensive menu which, combined with the numerous house specialities, might go some way to explaining why Edmonton's finest has been runner-up in our Restaurant of the Year Competition for the past two years.

"We have more house specials than the regular stuff and that is why people come back here time and time again," said manager, Raj Miah. "And then there's the new dishes which have gone down a storm. We have one guy who orders one portion of the Karela Moley and then orders another!"

A squid terragon (£4.45) with a piquant sauce and aloo chop (£2.95) certainly help spice-up the Starters, while a sensational Golda Chatha (£9.95) and Naga, "with a special kind of chilli only found in Bangladesh – hot" (£7.10) from the new-look Specials blew away our taste buds.

"And we are still one of the few restaurants left that open at lunchtimes," said Raj. "But make sure you book ahead on Sundays because we have difficulty getting everybody in!"

● Spice Villa is open seven days a week, noon to 2.30pm and 6pm to 11.30pm.

LEYTON'S DUKE OF EDINBURGHERS GO TO EXTREMES!

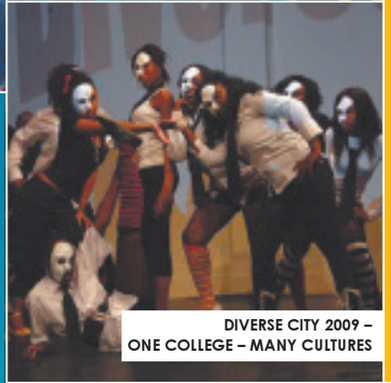

AND THERE'S MORE...

LEYTON'S DUKE OF EDINBURGHERS GO TO EXTREMES!
Hospitable spring weather greeted students from Leyton Sixth Form College as they set out on their Silver training expedition across the South Downs. The group comprising 17 Duke of Edinburgh's award entrants and five staff leaders enjoyed sunshine and stunning views during their five-day hike.

The Gold group, meanwhile, faced utterly contrasting conditions. The Black Mountains of South Wales provided visibility of just 10 metres, in driving rain and cold. Whatever the weather, they were determined to succeed.

The whole College came together for Leyton's annual diversity day at the end of the autumn term. The aim was to celebrate the many different cultures represented at LSC. A full day of special events included an awards ceremony, an art exhibition, stalls by Amnesty International and the Languages department, a multi-faith forum and samples of delicious cuisine from the many communities from which students originate. The centrepiece of the day was a fashion, dance, music, singing and rapping extravaganza – Diverse City.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.
4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.
Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

IN-FORM LENNON SENDS SPURS TOP

By Tom Victor

AARON LENNON continued his push for an England place by scoring the winning goal in Tottenham Hotspur's 2-1 victory over West Ham United on Sunday.

With Theo Walcott injured and Shaun Wright-Phillips in indifferent form, Lennon picked the perfect time to impress watching England manager Fabio Capello.

His goal, a sharply taken left-foot curler, was just reward for a composed performance by the 22-year-old winger, who kept West Ham left-back Jonathan Spector on the back foot for the entire 90 minutes.

More importantly, the 79th-minute finish secured a third league win on the bounce for Harry Redknapp's Tottenham side, following Wednesday's impressive 5-1 mauling of Hull City and restoring their position at the top of the Premier League table.

Redknapp was full of praise for his side, although he refused to get carried away despite their perfect start to the season.

"It's early doors and a great start but that's all," Redknapp said after Sunday's victory. "We have got some hard games. It will be interesting to see how we shape up."

Indeed, the prospect of fixtures against Manchester United and Chelsea in the coming weeks makes the derby win even more important.

Wednesday's victory had seen Jermain Defoe net his first hat-trick in Tottenham colours, and the England man was on the scoresheet again against his former club at Upton Park, latching on to a loose pass from West Ham striker Carlton Cole to fire home the equaliser.

He was replaced in stoppage time by debutant Kyle Naughton, who will have been pleased to make a winning start to his Tottenham career.

Defoe is in top form for club and country, and will look to build on his recent brace against Holland by lining up for Capello's side when they take on Slovenia and Croatia in September.

Another of Spurs' international contingent, goalkeeper Heurelho Gomes, will hope to be fit for Brazil's games against Argentina and Chile after missing Sunday's outing with the thigh injury he sustained against Hull.

Next up for Tottenham is a trip to the Keepmoat Stadium tonight, where they face Doncaster Rovers in the Carling Cup.

Star performer: Aaron Lennon scored Tottenham's winner at West Ham United on Sunday

Hornsey's promotion party put on hold

HORNSEY still have work to do to guarantee promotion from Division Three of the Middlesex County Cricket League after being forced to settle for a losing draw from Saturday's trip to Ickenham.

Even though the side remain top of the table with two matches left to play, they are now just ten points clear of third-placed Kenton following this latest disappointing display.

John Alderson top-scored with 68 as Ickenham amassed 238 batting first – with Ian Gregory taking 5-67 – and Hornsey could only manage 212-9 in reply.

Highgate look set for a mid-table finish following their losing draw in a high-scoring match at home to Harrow Town.

Zak Curtis hit an unbeaten 118 and Nick Brunner added 70 as the hosts made 320-5, but Tyron Pheophile's 121 helped Harrow Town to reply with 284-8 and pick up the four points.

Meanwhile, North Middlesex endured a disappointing day in the second division as they could only manage a losing draw from their clash at basement side Uxbridge.

And North London are still in danger of relegation after slumping to a six-wicket defeat at home to Harrow.

Darren Crook (8-71) destroyed the North London batting as they were dismissed for 163, and Waqas Hussain then hit 59 as the visitors cruised to 167-4 in reply.

North Middlesex entertain Brentham on Saturday, while North London visit Southgate, Hornsey go to Kenton and Highgate face a trip to Wycombe House.

Sorry Borough hit for six by Dunstable

Dunstable Town 6 Haringey Borough 2

Molten Spartan Premier Division

A SIDE containing seven debutants failed to provide immediate success on Saturday as Haringey Borough slumped to a heavy defeat at Dunstable Town.

With several players sidelined through injury, and five squad-members having only joined the club days before the match, it was perhaps unsurprising that Borough went down to promotion favourites Dunstable, although the scoreline will disappoint manager Tom Loizou.

Borough may have sensed they were in for a long afternoon when Neal Perrin netted after only a minute for their table-topping opponents, and further goals from Perrin and Lewis Osbourne meant it looked like game over half an hour in.

Melvin Thompson-Klass' crisp finish gave the visitors hope going into the break, but two more goals in five second-half minutes, including a penalty conceded by debutant goalkeeper Erbil Bozkurt, effectively ended the contest.

Abubakarr Kargbo netted a consolation goal for Borough before the hosts' Terry Billy completed the scoring late on.

Haringey Borough host fellow-strugglers Hertford Town on Saturday (3pm).

❑ Haringey Borough Women, meanwhile, managed an impressive 5-0 win at home to Peterborough on Sunday. Four of the goals came before half-time, with Samuella King completing her hat-trick after the break.
